

A B S T R A C T

The present invention pertains to an improved agent for producing a satiety effect and for weight loss. The agent according to the invention is also suitable for regulating the cholesterol balance.